Objections to property assessments filed in recent years by Conalco (Consolidated Aluminum Corporation) will go before the Madison County Board of Review, Mayor Tyrone Echols informed the Venice City Council at its July 23 meeting.

"You know about the problems we've had with assessment of the Conalco property and it has been suggested by the attorney we should get an appraisal of the property before it goes before the Board of Review," the mayor said.

Several governmental entities could benefit from a decision on the Conalco property, Echols said, including the city of Madison, Venice School District, Madison School District and Venice Township.

AN APPRAISAL will cost $22,000 and all the taxing bodies involved are being asked to share in the expense, he explained. "Venice and Madison could realize between $40,000 and $50,000 out of this," Echols estimated.

"This problem went before the board of review previously and the state appraised the property at $32 million. Conalco got its own appraisal and it was appraised at $1 million," the mayor told the council members.

"I personally thought the state's appraisal was excessively high, but Conalco's was excessively low."

"I BELIEVE in the neighborhood of $6 million to $8 million in property value is more in line," Echols said.

"This has been an ongoing problem ever since I've been mayor," he said.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin said, "I think the city should participate (in the appraisal) with the distribution of fees." A motion to share the cost of the appraisal was approved by the council.

At a July 18 meeting, the Madison Board of Education also agreed to share in the cost of an appraisal.

POLICE CHIEF Farris Smith reported 143 adults, including 106 men and 37 women, and eight juveniles, all males, were arrested in June by Venice police.

A $1,939 check was received by the city from Circuit Court Clerk Willard Portell. The amount represents fines collected during the month.

Granite City Park Board agrees to establish fees for its winter programs

By DAVE WHALEY

GRANITE CITY — Consistent fees for park programs for this winter will be set, but figures will not be determined for a couple of weeks.

The Granite City Park Board agreed Wednesday to set fees for eight-week sessions and winter season passes. Jeff Worthen, finance committee chairman, had proposed fall and winter program rates for 1985-86, but the board held off on deciding on actual numbers.

"I THINK WE can decide now if we want to set these fees," Board President George Sykes told the board. "If we decide we don't want to do it, there would be no need to waste time over the next few weeks trying to decide on the actual numbers."

Sykes took an informal poll of board members during the meeting, and all but himself were in favor of setting fees.

"A year ago, I might have said no," said Nancy Miles. "But now, I feel we have some things we have to do in the district which will cost some money."

DORA DARNELL, and Barry Loman also were in favor, with Loman adding the fees should be set up as long as they are "in line."

"I have always proposed fees," Worthen said. "Everyone pays taxes for use of the parks. But some people don't participate in our programs but still want the upkeep of the parks. It's not unique. Other communities in the state have done it."

"I know the concern is the cost for people with four or five in the family, but I think we can solve that with the winter program pass."

'He's working hard for the money'

Taking care of business

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A man's worth can not be judged by the size of his paycheck, especially when that man is Henry Bieniecki.

Bieniecki serves as assistant to Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse for the salary of $1 a year.

Bieniecki became politically involved with Cruse when the two were campaigning for Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

After Simon was nominated in the primary election, Cruse indicated to Bieniecki that Cruse was interested in running for mayor of Granite City.

"He invited me to a couple of meetings and before long, he asked me to be his campaign manager," Bieniecki said.

Bieniecki said he and Cruse joked throughout the campaign about the amount of work Bieniecki was doing.

"The mayor used to say 'Don't worry Henry, if I win, I'll give you a job and pay you $1 a year,'" Bieniecki said.

Bieniecki, a retired engineer from McDonnell Aircraft, said he didn't want to take the job because he wanted to enjoy his retirement. But he agreed to take the job for $1 a year if he could set his own hours.

"If he (Cruse) had lost, I would have been home free," he said jokingly. "But after he won, I felt obligated to continue to help him."

Bieniecki said he has not been paid yet and he does not know when payday is.

"I'm not really worried about it," he said. "If I wanted to make money I would go back to McDonnell Douglas."

Since taking the job in April, Bieniecki has worked an average of 35 hours a week.

He said he expected to spend a large amount of hours at the beginning to get organized and get programs and policies going. But Bieniecki said he doesn't foresee a time when he will be able to cut down on his hours.

"The more you look, the more you find to do," he said.

Bieniecki is involved in the study of several large projects for the city. He is working on plans to repair city sewer breaks, and on sewage treatment plant modifications for regionalization.

He also said he was working on a plan to install an elevator in City Hall, to make the structure accessible to handicapped persons. Bieniecki said plans for an elevator are in the original design of the building.

One of Bieniecki's mental tasks is going through the mayor's mail. He said he weeds out "junk" mail and draws the mayor's attention to requests from residents that should be discussed.

"The mayor is spread very thin," he said. "If he's going to be a responsive mayor, he needs time to plan and to visit with city employees and residents. It's hard to get all of that in 40 hours."

He added, "He's the first full-time mayor this city has had."

Bieniecki said his engineering background combined with his friendship and respect for Cruse keeps him going.

"He wants to really turn around the city," he said. "He's got a lot of work to do and I am helping him — it's a real challenge."

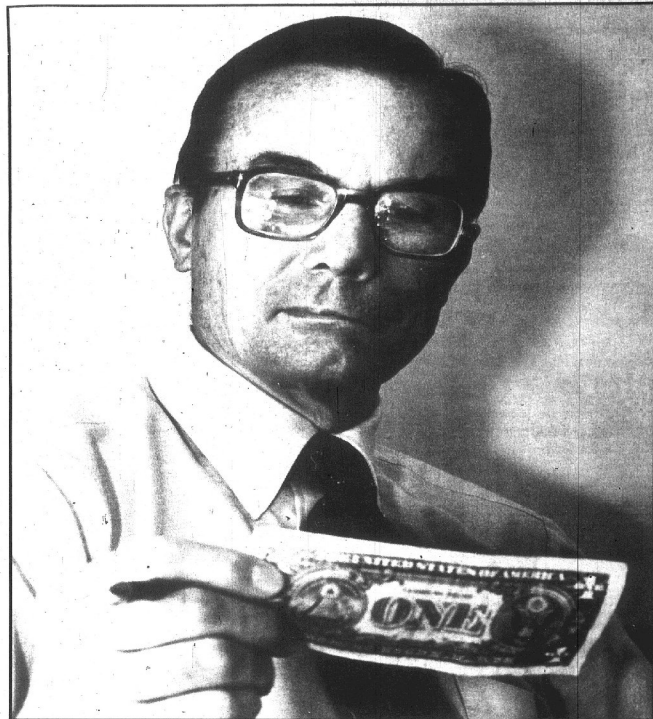

"As an engineer, I've become goal oriented. I want to help get the city moving economically and rekindle the community spirit."

Bieniecki said he never thought he would turn his goals in the direction of Granite City politics.

"I've always been interested in history, ever since I read about Abe Lincoln as a little boy," he said. "I suppose my interest in history led to an interest in politics. After all, politics is history in the making."

Despite the long hours and low wage, Bieniecki said he has no second thoughts about taking the job.

"I have a certain amount of freedom in this job that other jobs do not offer," he said. "Besides that, no one would want to pay me what I'd like to ask for the job!"

Venice rescinds dismissals

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Honorable dismissal notices sent in March to 14 teachers in the Venice School District were rescinded by the Venice Board of Education at its meeting Thursday night.

Thirteen faculty members receiving the notices are employed at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, an adult vocational and education school. The 14th is from the Venice public schools.

The action was taken after Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers received a favorable response to a question directed to Peter Ponce, VLTC director, regarding expectations of next year's funding.

"THERE APPEAR to be no problems with the money next year," Ponce said.

The board also set a special meeting for 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 5, to open bids on removal of asbestos inschool facilities.

"We may have to hold all or some of the work until after the next school year," Vickers noted. Unless all the work could be completed by this Aug. 16, the removal project may be delayed until next June or July, he said.

A TOTAL OF 4,800 school districts applied and Venice is one of only three in Illinois to be selected by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to take part in the program.

The local district will receive a $76,375 grant and an interest-free loan of equal value to reduce asbestos hazards in the 1954 addition to the Venice Grade School.

Asbestos, once a common insulating material, is regarded as a cancer-causing substance, breathing its fibers can lead to lung cancer as well as to scarring of the lungs and other diseases, health authorities say.

Initially, it was believed the project could not be undertaken this late, in the summer holiday period, but an advertisement for bids on the work was published in the July 21 edition of the Press-Record/Journal.

Government officials testing temperature of airline meals

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Speer

WASHINGTON — The government's food testers are spot-checking airline in-flight meals — not for taste, but for temperature.

Food and Drug Administration inspectors will have trinkets of the menu to airborne gourmets. They are strictly down-to-earth investigators, concerned that the cold food you get on your flight is kept cold enough, and the hot food hot enough, to discourage the growth of bacteria that can cause food poisoning.

The FDA's "danger zone" for food waiting to be served in flight is between 45 and 140 degrees Fahrenheit.

The FDA is currently taking the temperatures of meals being put aboard at Chicago, Baltimore, Atlanta and Dallas airports. It hopes to check meals loaded aboard 408 planes by Sept. 30, but had tested only 82 planes in the nine months ending June 25.

An FDA spokesman cheerfully assured us that "70 percent of the planes passed with flying colors." We take the pessimistic view: 30 percent flunked. We also know that only 28 of 142 planes or just under 20 percent — failed the FDA's standards in a similar spot-check in New York a year ago. That means there was a 50 percent increase in the rate of failure in one year.

A summary of the 1984 tests was prepared at the request of Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-Ill. He gave it to Tony Capaccio obtained a copy of the summary and went over it with William Adams, chairman of the In-Flight Food Services Association, the airline caterers' trade organization.

Adams pointed out, accurately, that the FDA sample was only a fraction of the nearly 350 million meals served aboard airlines last year. "I don't know of any food-related illness because of temperature," Adams said. He added, "But that doesn't mean the possibility isn't there."

Here are some of the report's findings: — FDA inspectors found instances "in which foods such as steaks, chicken, fish, milk and non-dairy creamers were being loaded on aircraft with little or no dry ice and stored at unsafe temperatures."

— On two Eastern Airlines flights out of Newark, to Fort Lauderdale and Bermuda, inspectors found steaks stored for later serving that had internal temperatures of 54 to 59 degrees. The airline said it followed up on the "extremely minor" problem with re-educational efforts.

— On an American Airlines flight from Newark to Dallas, caterers were loading plates of steak, chicken cutlets and fish with temperatures of 68 to 72 degrees. Two dinners of "braised beef Portugal" had temperatures of 70 degrees.

— On a Pan American flight from New York to Chicago, inspectors found three chicken and steak dinners in one galley at 70 degrees in another galley three out of 35 chicken platters were at 66 to 70 degrees.

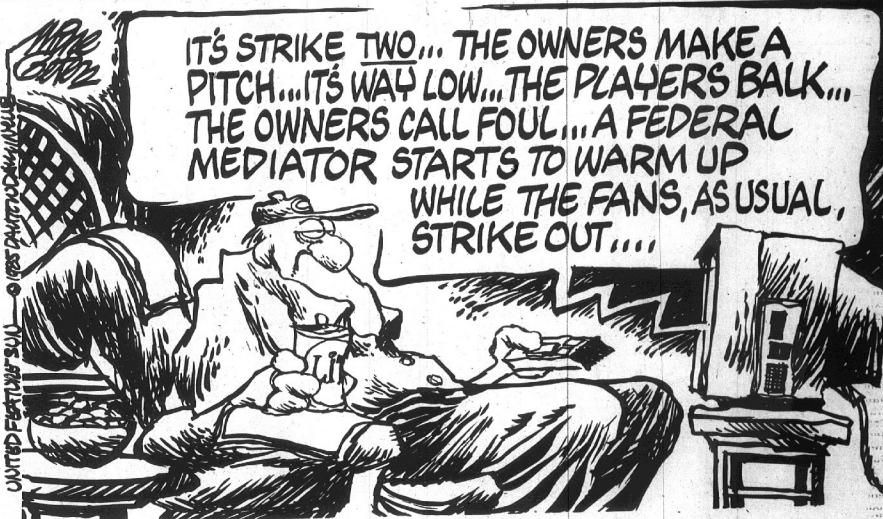

The FDA inspectors informed Pan Am personnel, but were told the meals would be served anyway because re-stocking the plane would delay the flight.

Pan Am said it has since tightened up its supervision of the catering service and has been given a "clean bill of health" by FDA.

WATCH ON WASTE: Part of virtually every payment to a defense contractor covers what is called "cost per standard hour of work." This is defined as the price for an hour's work by a trained employee with proper tools and supervision. Small businesses charge $95 to $35 an hour for high-quality machine-shop jobs. But the big defense contractors have been charging anywhere from $300 to $3,000 for an hour of similar work. And the Pentagon has been paying without a whimper.

— A regional office of the Labor Department's Employment Standards Administration is located in Dallas, but when it came time for the annual management meeting this month, it was held in Houston. Since one-third of the agency's staffers attending live in Dallas, there would have been no need for airfare and per-diem expenses if the meeting had been held there. As it was, the transportation costs came to $5,370 and per diem amounted to $14,400. Extra cost to the taxpayers: $4,908.

Life goes from buggy to jet

Your views

CLEVA WHITAKER of Granite City received an honorable mention for this entry in the "Memories of Southern Illinois" essay contest, sponsored by Southern Illinois Arts.

When I was a little girl, I used to spend summers with my grandparents who were farmers on the land now known as Crab Orchard Wild Life Conservation. After school was out each year, my mom would let me go stay awhile.

Those were the happiest days of my life. I had a little room with a real featherbed mattress, and sleeping on that little bed was like floating on a cloud.

We woke each morning to the smell of ham, bacon or sausage frying. Grandmother's biscuits two inches high and lots of gravy to go with them. My grandfather would then go out to feed the hogs and start what was called the "hog" or "hog" sometimes he would let me trail around after him. At that time, he did not have modern machinery, so the neighboring farmers would help one another by working one farm a day during harvest time.

The wives all came and put a big feed on the long table for the workers. That long table was a dream; everything was on it! Big cakes, pies of every kind, heaping plates of fried chicken and endless dishes of vegetables. This was a real social day for the ladies.

I used to help Grandma feed the chickens and sort vegetables and fruits for canning that she had grown in her garden. It was a big garden, and raspberry and in the other kettle for rinsing and then put through a hand-cranked wringer. I do not recall seeing any clothes whiter or cleaner. The homemade soap helped — it was made of lye and grease and it also acted as a good disinfectant.

In those days, for entertainment they had a central point — the local church called Lone Oak Church. Everything revolved around that church. Socials, ice cream suppers, the quilting sessions and, of course, the religious hours. I have many quilts my mother made and I treasure them highly. Most of the young men had early in life picked their future wives and many a date was made at the church.

Every Tuesday my grandparents went into a nearby small town, to deliver eggs, butter and milk to steady customers. They let me go along, and it was fun riding along on that wooden seat in the back of the wagon or buggy.

Those years went fast; soon it was 1929, the start of the great depression, and suddenly my days on the farm came to an end. Times were very bad and a new project was formed, created for the unemployed. This project was called the W.F.A. Another project created and funded by the government was the Crab Orchard Wild Life Conservation, and 100 miles of man-made lake. With it went my grandparents' farm and they moved away from that area.

Today, I doubt if I could locate their land as it has changed so much and it is off limits to the public: most of it anyway, but for some picnic areas and beaches.

In later life, when I made airplane trips over the area, I would look down and see the lake and imagine what I thought would be an area near their farm. I would think "From Buggy to Jet" in a short span of 50 years.

Rest sweetly, dear folks, you will always remain in my memory, and I still see that little girl chasing fireflies in the evening dusk. That was a bit of Heaven.

I love you,
Your Granddaughter

Wants pre-1920 GC history

To the Editor: In January 1985 I corresponded with you inquiring if you had any newspaper microfilm different from that at the Granite City Library. You said they were the same and the only extant copies. I find you are correct — nowhere else in the state can I find any pre-1903 copies.

At this point my research on my dissertation is all but completed and I have written two of the early chapters. But I thought that I might try to find any one in the Tri-Cities that could remember Granite City prior to 1920.

These people would be 75 or older, but that is not unheard of these days. If I could find these people, they would be a very valuable resource — one that you might even be able to use somewhere in the feature section of your paper.

I would like to interview these people on tape and use it for my research. After that I would be glad to donate the tape to the historical society of library or whatever.

The problem is that as an out-of-towner, I do not know the names of these people who might make good interviewees.

Most senior citizens enjoy recalling their past memories and I think they would be a valuable asset to keep.

Beautiful 'Blue Room' at City Hall questionable

Beautiful blues highlight the newly decorated mayor's office in Granite City Hall.

The walls are adorned with off-white wallpaper, accented by attractive blue and beige stripes. The woodwork is trimmed in a lighter, powder blue. And the carpeting rounds out the decor — a plush, slate blue.

The Blue Room bill has not yet been submitted, but the cost will probably be ordinary.

In other times, the cost would not be worth mentioning.

The paltry pittance expended for the Blue Room; however, deserves questioning in these times. The city's budget is at a break-even status.

The need to give raises to city workers is being questioned by the mayor. The city's sewer problems long ago hit a crisis level — if it's your basement being flooded.

The mayor's strong stand against unnecessary spending is laudable. But to turn around and spend money on what appears to be a frivolity denotes a perhaps unconscious "let them eat cake" attitude.

Hopefully, other such expenditures will be more closely scrutinized.

Use of seat belts is a responsibility, not a right

Are you wearing your seat belt? Whether you like it or not, it is the law now.

I began wearing a seat belt long before it was law. After driving in St. Louis traffic and being run off the road by trucks helping themselves to my lane, I decided I was going to be in an accident, I might as well take a few precautions.

I've also learned my lesson the hard way.

I had just turned 16 when my boyfriend took me on an evening joyride — a joyride at 70 m.p.h. on the wrong side of the road, around a curve and head-on into a pickup truck.

Two days later my boyfriend's insurance agent visited me in the hospital.

"Were you wearing your seat belt?" he asked.

Susanne Indelicato

"No," I told him. "There were no seat belts. They were taken out when John rebuilt the car."

I didn't see what the big deal was. I hadn't been killed. The car, because it was a '60s era Thunderbird, was built like a tank and offered adequate protection in collisions.

But I thought about seat belts a lot as I sat in my wheelchair that summer, wishing I could join my friends swimming, playing ball and riding the carnival rides at the county fair.

Although I hadn't been killed, the force of the collision had thrown me about in the car, resulting in a cut all the way into the bone in my left leg, and a broken bone in my right leg.

Had I been wearing the seat belt, I might have walked away from the accident.

Still, some might argue that the requirement of seat belts with penalty of a fine is an infringement on one's rights. You might say I had a right to mangle myself in that accident.

There's a thin line between "rights" and "responsibilities."

When you cast a vote for a candidate, that's your right. But it's also your responsibility to know how the candidate stands on the issues and how effective he may be in serving you and your fellow constituents.

Owning a gun is your right, but knowing how to safely handle and store that gun is your responsibility.

Driving down the highway in your car is your right, but observing the speed limit and traffic laws, including the seat belt law, is your responsibility.

Perhaps the key to the controversy is that people don't like being told they have a responsibility to protect themselves. They don't like being told what's good for them.

So if you don't want anyone to tell you what's good for you, I suggest you stand up for your rights when the stewardess tells you to fasten your seat belt for a landing. Or you could tell the Six Flags attendant a thing or two when he straps you into a car on the Screamin' Eagle roller-coaster.

Publication of press releases depends on you

Got a call from an angry member of the Ollah Gombahs.

"My ad didn't get in," she growled.

"Ma'am, I'm in news. I don't handle ads."

"Yes, you do," she persisted. "It was an ad for the Ollah Gombahs — about our new officers."

"Oh. You mean a story. We call it a press release."

"Yes, my ad," she continued, undaunted. "Why didn't it get in?"

"I guess there were several reasons..."

Jack Ventimiglia

She interrupted, "You don't like the Ollah Gombahs, do you?"

"They're a lovely group, I'm sure."

"We do a lot for this community, but you never write about us."

"There was a front page photo last week, and a story back in June," I ventured.

"The photo wasn't big enough," she growled, adding, "What about the ad we sent you last week?"

It was a little hard to read, being written with red ink on a torn brown paper bag," I said. "After we called the SELE archeology department to decipher it, we got it typed."

"Then why wasn't it in?" she demanded.

"Well, we didn't have room for it, really."

"No room!" she shouted. "Dump that story on the minister getting robbed, about the tax increase and the new jobs. Then there would have been plenty of room!"

"Sorry, ma'am. We'll get in the story as soon as possible."

About the time she slammed down the receiver, I realized the story was in the paper, under the headline of "Group promotes community harmony."

14 from here at 1985 National Boy Scout Jamboree in Virginia

Although a bit wind-blown by remnants of Hurricane Bob, local Boy Scouts are having the time of their lives at Fort A.P. Hill in Virginia, site of the 1985 National Scout Jamboree.

The journey began July 20 and the group arrived at Fort Hill on July 22. Events will end on Tuesday evening, July 30, and they will depart July 31, arriving home Aug. 3 after extensive sightseeing.

During the mammoth jamboree, 15,000 tents are occupying 7,000 acres of an Army base near Bowling Green, Va. There are 31,000 Scouts and leaders at the site.

Many similarities with past jamborees have been noted — the national gathering is held every four years — but this is the first time major computer companies have set up exhibits. Scouting merit badges currently include a computer badge.

A space shuttle is on display, and entertainers have included the Beach Boys.

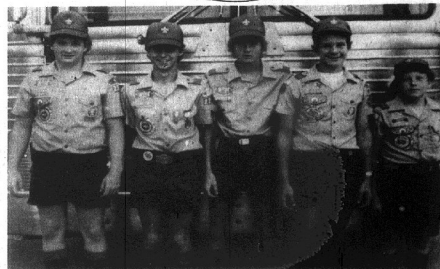

Quad-City residents at the jamboree are Don D. Gnaedinger, an adult, and Don J. Gnaedinger, John Raina, Chris Rosen, Dave Chapman, Mike Charbonnier, Dan Grayson, Ed Hess, James Perry, Ben Richards, Darrell Schaefer, Steven Smith, Allen Williams and Darrell Young.

Jamboree Troop 226 consists of 39 Boy Scouts and four adult leaders representing the Cahokia Mound Council, headquartered in Granite City, and the Piassa Bird Council, situated in the Alton area.

The spirit lives on

HIGH ADVENTURE awaits these Boy Scouts (above) as they prepare to depart for the National Jamboree. Representatives of the Cahokia Mound Council and Piassa Bird Council formed a single troop for the event, gathering in front of the Piassa headquarters; their special uniform patch includes the names and symbols of both councils. In the photograph at the right are some of the local delegation. (Left to right) Darrell Young, Darrell Schaefer, Mike Charbonnier, Dan Grayson and Dave Chapman. Theme of the 75th-year jamboree is "The spirit lives on."

Area Aging council fires director; state deadline set

FAIRVIEW HEIGHTS — The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging board last week fired its executive director, Roosevelt Peabody, setting the stage for another round of court action.

"That's justice for you," Peabody said after leaving the board's meeting room. "I intend to consult with an attorney, and do whatever is required to resolve this matter."

The decision followed a narrow, 14-13 vote.

THE AGENCY had just emerged from several weeks of litigation filed over a June 3 special meeting during which the May 16 resignation of former chairman Stanley Macieski was accepted and Joseph Tucker was elected to succeed him.

Board member Billy Jones made an impassioned plea to the other board members, asking that Peabody be granted a "pre-termination hearing" before any decision to remove him as director was made.

"Mr. Peabody has not been given any hearing and, in fact, I am unaware of any charges that this board has brought against him," Jones said.

He added that board officers can be held personally liable for actions taken which violate the rights of public employees. However, whether the area agency is considered a public body is a matter of uncertainty.

PHILLIP W. COLLINS, deputy of the Illinois Department on Aging, said last week that, barring a court ruling to the contrary, the agency is considered a not-for-profit corporation which deals with public funds. The state empowers the agency to provide services and programs for senior citizens throughout an eight-county area in Southwestern Illinois.

Twenty-seven of the agency's 31 executive board members attended the meeting and voted on Treasurer John Shank's motion to fire Peabody.

Newly-elected Chairman Tucker cast the final and deciding vote. Shank said Peabody was unable to run the agency properly and blamed him for the state's May 16 suspension of the agency's federal funding.

IDOA SUSPENDED SWIAA's Title III funds for 90 days because of audit discrepancies and repeated late reporting to the state. Title III dollars support food programs for senior citizens who are shut-ins.

Also, the agency was asked to explain roughly $81,000 in questioned costs and other items by Aug. 16 or, it was told, the agency would be dissolved. Collins said two weeks ago that if the agency isn't squared away by that date, "They're out of business."

Peabody briefly addressed the board, thanked those who have supported him and said he intends "...to pursue my position" by way of legal action, if necessary.

Following this, board member Lois McVicar made a motion to confirm Tucker as acting director until a replacement for Peabody can be hired.

VICE-CHAIRMAN Ed Jucwicz objected, saying the agency's bylaws stipulate the deputy director, Carol Kopis, would take over the director's duties.

"I was shocked," Jucwicz said. "That's why I left. If they're not going to act according to our bylaws, what's the use?"

The motion to designate Tucker passed.

CHAIRING HIS FIRST board meeting since his election June 3, Tucker asked for the board's support and help in getting the agency back on its feet. "...so we can continue serving the people of Region Eight."

"We are the only agency in the state that has been suspended as we have been. And I don't think they intended to pick on us; there has been plenty of reason. Now I hope we're able to move ahead" before Aug. 16.

According to Nicholas Wiesen, the agency's fiscal administrator, Jay Coniglio, a representative of IDOA, was last week gathering the last bit of documentation for the $81,000 in cost allowances and would inform IDOA when he returned to Springfield.

TUCKER ASKED that a new policies and procedures manual be read by all board members and adopted during the agency's next meeting.

"We don't really have established policies and procedures. That's why we're in this mess in the first place," Tucker said.

Before the meeting was adjourned, board member D.F. VanFossen of Wood River submitted his resignation.

"THERE'S A POWER struggle going on here, and if you don't resolve it somehow, you're going down the drain," VanFossen said. He was an executive board member for eight years.

Susan Jensen suing Weber over her firing

A Madison County assistant state's attorney has filed a lawsuit against her former employer, Don W. Weber, over her firing last year.

The former state's attorney last week called the suit "frivolous" and said he plans to sue the woman's husband, also a former employee of his.

Assistant State's Attorney Susan Jensen filed a suit against Weber and Madison County in the 3rd Circuit Court in Edwardsville in late July over her firing by Weber in April 1984.

THE SUIT alleges Weber fired her because of actions by her husband, a former assistant state's attorney under Weber.

"I think it's frivolous," Weber said of the suit. "However, I'm going to take this opportunity to sue her husband."

"He owed a duty of loyalty to me, which I think he breached," he said. He contended Keith Jensen's actions hampered his ability to prosecute former supervisor of assessments James Barton.

"I'm the wrong party in this (lawsuit)," Weber added.

LAST YEAR, Keith Jensen signed an affidavit suggesting that Weber was using a grand jury investigation of county assessments for political purposes. He also testified before a special grand jury investigating Weber.

The assessments probe involved Barton, a political foe of Weber's. Barton and others later were indicted.

Jensen resigned in March 1984 after signing the affidavit; his wife, who was pregnant, was fired in April 1984.

WEBER WAS INDICTED in April 1984 on charges of official misconduct in connection with the assessments investigation. A circuit judge dismissed the charges in June, however, and the 5th District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon upheld his decision in a ruling last May.

The suit against Weber includes six counts seeking in excess of $15,000 each, plus costs of the suit.

It says the firing was "malicious" and violated the right to freedom of speech and a public policy of reporting crimes.

SHE WAS DENIED maternity leave, the suit adds.

Weber said her employment after her husband's actions created an "unbearable strain. My whole office had to be mobilized to undo the damage that he had done."

Weber said he did not know when he would file a suit against Keith Jensen.

Bible school starts at Central Baptist

Vacation Bible school will be held July 29 through Aug. 2 at Central Baptist Church, 3340 Highway 111. The program includes special Bible school characters such as Silly Billy, Pee Wee and others.

Crafts, Bible story time and treats are all part of the daily plans. A highlight of every day is a fun-filled assembly led by Pastor Wayne Musatis.

The sessions will be held each evening from 7 to 8:45. The Sunday school buses will run each evening, and for information or transportation, the numbers to call are 931-0964 or 931-1157, the minister said.

Grassroots

Upcoming meetings of Quad-City area governmental taxing bodies include:

Nameoki Township (public hearing on the town and road district levies) 7 p.m. Monday, July 29, 4250 Highway 162.

Venice Park Board (special meeting to discuss the 1985-86 budget) 6:30 p.m. Monday, July 29, Venice Recreation Center.

Music of the Beatles featured in concert by the St. Louis County Pops

Music from the swinging sixties, including tunes from Broadway and the best-loved rock group of that decade, will be featured at St. Louis County Pops concerts entitled "A Salute to the Beatles" at Queeny Park, 8 p.m., July 30 and 31, and Aug. 1.

Joel Levine, associate conductor of the Oklahoma Symphony, will lead the program. Kathleen Mattis, associate principal violinist with the St. Louis Symphony, is the soloist.

Also music director of the Lyric Theater, Levine maintains a career that spans the symphonic, dance and theater worlds. His annual conducting engagements range from performances with his own orchestra's pop series to all Ballet Oklahoma performances to guest appearances with such ensembles as the Baltimore, Minnesota and Fort Worth symphony orchestras.

An honors graduate of the Eastman School of Music, Levine studied conducting under Sergiu Commissiona. He has served as music director of the Maryland Ballet and conducted for such recording artists as Doc Severinson, Ramsey Lewis and Anna Maria Alberghetti. He also has traveled to 125 North American theaters as music director for the national touring company of the Broadway musical "The Wiz."

Associate principal violinist Mattis joined the St. Louis orchestra in June 1977. A native of San Diego, she came to the orchestra directly from the University of Southern California.

While at the university she studied violin with Eudice Shagiro and violin with Milton Thomas. She also was a member of the USC Quartet and served on the faculty as a teaching assistant. In addition, she has studied with Charles and Heidi Castelman.

Mattis is well known as a recitalist and has appeared as soloist with various orchestras and ensembles in the St. Louis area and on the west coast, including several solo appearances with the St. Louis Symphony. She has performed at Carnegie Hall and at the Kennedy Center as principal violinist with the New York String Orchestra and was a winner of the 1975 Musical Merit Foundation Award.

Her many chamber music activities include recording for the Turnabout label and performing with the Trio Cassatt. Mattis is a member of the faculty of the St. Louis Conservatory and Schools for the Arts. She will perform Vaughan

Williams' "Suite for Viola and Orchestra."

Other selections on the program include "Michelle," "Yesterday" and "The Fool on the Hill" by the Beatles as well as Broadway melodies of the '60s from "Hello Dolly," "The Fantastiks" and "Man of La Mancha."

Ticket for these performances are $4.50 to $13 each. A discounted rate of 25 percent off the regular ticket price is available to groups of 20 or more. Interested persons may call 1-314-534-2500, extension 293, for group information, 1-314-534-1700 for regular or student ticket information.

Melissa Manchester

Steve Landesberg

Melissa Manchester, Steve Landesberg to perform at Fox

Melissa Manchester and special guest Steve Landesberg, Sgt. Dietrich of "Barney Miller" fame, will appear on the Fox stage Aug. 13 through 18.

From such classics as "Midnight Blue" to 1982's international hit, "You Should Hear How They Talk About You," which garnered her the Grammy Award for Best Female Vocalist of the Year, to her most recent album, "Mathematics," Manchester continues to make music that appeals to millions of people.

Her first two albums, "Home to Myself" and "Bright Eyes," introduced a new talent. And her single, "Midnight Blue," from her third album, "Melissa," earned her two gold records.

With subsequent albums "Help is on the Way," "Better Days and Happy Endings," "For the Working Girl" and "Hey, Ricky," Manchester continued to reconfirm her uniqueness as singer-songwriter and entertainer. One of her successes was "Lovers After All," a rhythm and blues ballad that she wrote and sang as a duet with Peabo Bryson. In addition to becoming a pop hit, the song represented Manchester's first hit on the nation's soul charts.

With Landesberg, the accent is definitely on comedy. Johnny Carson uses the words "off the wall" to describe him. David Brenner is more eloquent: "He's the most prolific, the funniest, of all of us. I think he's the closest to the creativity and obtuse thinking of Jonathan Winters."

In a few years, the world's gonna catch up with him.

In show business, Landesberg is regarded among the most versatile comedic entertainers in the industry. He recently completed a highly successful run as the erudite Sgt. Dietrich on the series "Barney Miller." During his six years on the show, Landesberg was honored by his peers with three consecutive Emmy nominations.

His humor has been seen in his stand-up comedy routines on dozens of television shows ranging from the "Tonight Show" to prime time specials.

During the past year, Landesberg has returned to the concert stage, bringing his own brand of humor to sold-out performances. Today he frequently takes his collection of characters, the red neck sheriff, the Jewish duck hunter, the guru of the dirty mind, and his impressions of Henry Kissinger as a Harlem Globetrotter, Princess Di, Richard Pryor, to concert halls and college campuses across the country.

Tickets may be purchased at the Fox Box Office at 327 N. Grand Blvd., St. Louis, all Ticketmaster and Dillard's Ticketmaster locations, and Regal Sports located at 2131 Olive, or by calling 1-314-534-1111. Visa and Mastercard are accepted. Groups of 20 or more receive a 20 percent discount; for more information, groups may call 1-314-534-1078.

Cohen, Stephen Sondheim and George Gershwin, will be heard when the St. Louis Symphony presents The Best of Broadway at the County Pops at 8 p.m. Aug. 2 and 3 in Queeny Park's Greensfelder Center, St. Louis County. Eric Knight is the guest conductor.

Among today's most sought-after pops conductors, Knight is principal conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and North Carolina Symphony Orchestra as well as musical director of the Tupelo Symphony Orchestra. He also has earned recognition as a pianist, composer and arranger. Knight worked closely with Arthur Fiedler for 10 years, preparing numerous arrangements and orchestrations for the Boston Pops. After Fiedler's death, he programmed "A Fiedler Tribute," which has become a hallmark presentation throughout the U.S. and Canada. He also has written for such diverse artists as Victor Borge, Diana Lynn and the Empire Brass, in addition to serving as musical director for Ethel Merman for almost 20 years. In 1983, he was invited by Beverly Sills to join the New York City Opera as conductor for "The Merry Widow." At the Best of Broadway, Knight is the pianist in the "Superstar Concerto," which is his arrangement of music from "Jesus Christ Superstar." Tickets are $4.50 to $13 each. Fox presents

'Thief of Bagdad'

Viewers can share the excitement, adventure, romance and fantasy of the Arabian Nights in the Siamese Byzantine splendor of the Fabulous Fox on Monday, July 29. Douglas Fairbanks Sr. stars in "The Thief of Bagdad."

It is the story of Ahmed, a carefree, fearless pickpocket who, in the best fairy tale fashion, falls in love with the princess of Bagdad. To earn her hand, he goes on a quest for a magic chest. Overcoming tremendous odds and obstacles (which even by today's film standards involve spectacular special effects), the thief finds the magic chest, rescues the princess from the Mongols and claims her as his own.

The film is replete with flying carpets, lurking monsters, a cast of thousands and, at its center, the nimble Fairbanks, who dashes through the sky on a white winged charger.

Dennis James, resident organist at the Ohio Theater, Columbus, will accompany this newly restored color-printed silent film on the Fox's mighty Wurlitzer organ.

Tickets are available from 10 a.m. the day of the show and cost $3 for adults, $4 for senior citizens and $3 for children.

The doors open at 6 p.m., with an organ concert at 7 p.m. The film begins at 7:30.

issued. There were 29 city ordinance violations and 15 state traffic violations.

Seven warrants were served, nine state ordinance violations were cited, four persons were arrested for other police departments and four others were picked up on investigations and later were released.

NON-COMPLIANCE with the Venice housing occupancy ordinance also was the subject of discussion.

Each alderman was provided a list of properties for which temporary repair permits were obtained, but for which no occupancy permits were purchased through City Comptroller Roseann Koelker.

First Ward Alderman John Fleig, who has been pressing for a review of such property, suggested the city go back to the old system where higher permit fees were charged.

PREVIOUSLY, a property owner wishing to repair a dwelling or commercial building received a temporary permit costing $15.

When the property repairs were completed and a city inspection had been made, an additional $15 was charged the occupant for such a permit.

The current rates are $5 for a repair permit and $10 for occupancy. Several aldermen commented as they reviewed the list of dwellings, including rental properties, for which repair permits were issued, but no follow-up occupancy was approved.

SOME ADDRESSES on the list are not presently occupied, it was noted by 3rd Ward Alderman John Ervin and 4th Ward Alderman Charles Haynes. Both agreed, however, that stricter enforcement is needed.

Fleig said among eight dwellings listed in the 1st Ward, where owners received temporary repair permits, five homes have people living there without occupancy permits.

It was the consensus of the council to have City Attorney Lawrence Hartman draw up an amendment to the present occupancy ordinance, returning the fees to the previous higher level.

Park fees set for winter

WORTHEN'S PROPOSAL would provide for programs in two eight-week sessions. Cost per session for park district residents would be $7.50 for adults and $5 for children; the cost for non-residents would be $17.50 for adults and $10 for children.

Winter program passes (for residents only), which would include entry to all youth or adult winter programs offered, would be $25 for a family, $15 for an adult and $10 for children.

A winter seasonal activity pass (residents only), including entry to all programs, plus ice skating lessons and ice rink privileges, would be $60 for a family, $35 for an adult and $20 for children.

"I AM ALWAYS against them (fees)," Sykes said. "I think when we offer certain programs for free and somebody has a complaint of some kind, they will come to us. If we are charging them for that program, they will be even more demanding."

"I think the quality of our programs is good right now, but if I was paying, I know I would certainly expect a lot more from you. I don't think we would charge enough to improve the programs all that much."

Sykes added he could see passing set fees if it would make prices more consistent throughout the district. "I guess we do have to pass it to help those with several children," he said. "But it still won't help those who simply don't have enough money to pay for the programs."

WORTHEN SAID HE would get together with John Lakin, recreation supervisor, and work on a program schedule for the eight-week sessions.

The DOWNINGS '85 ALIVE nationwide tour is one of Gospel Music's most refreshing concerts. Their new single, "LEAD ME TO THAT ROCK," is a chart breaker. After you hear The Downings, you will remember their singing; but more importantly, you will remember for whom they sing!

'Operation HAMMER' is a success story

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

The grinding buzz of a circular saw and the pounding noise of hammers are loudly evident in certain sections of the Garesche and Grenzer housing complexes in Madison.

Exploring the area for the source of the sounds, one discovers several apartments are under renovation, apparently on a simultaneous basis.

THE REHABILITATION project is part of "Operation HAMMER." This successful academic and hands-on vocational training program is spearheaded by Venice-Lincoln Technical Center and the Madison County Housing Authority. Success is measured by results, and the fact that eight previously unemployed men and women are now working for the housing authority to renovate apartments is being described as "the bottom line."

STARTED IN MARCH as a pilot project, the HAMMER program was launched with an initial grant of $52,000.

HAMMER is "a very appropriate acronym" for Housing Authority Management and Maintenance/Educational Resources, Shirley Blasingame, VLTC project director, commented.

A new application seeking to continue the Public Housing Initiative program for a further period of time is currently under consideration by state authorities, she said.

INITIAL FUNDING came from the Illinois State Board of Education's Department of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. Among tenants in Madison County Housing Authority units, there is a high rate of unemployment and many persons who are public aid or welfare recipients, Blasingame explained.

MANY OF THESE persons are in need of academic and vocational skills training in order to become employable, she added.

The HAMMER program was developed to address the specific needs of these residents.

"This program focuses on tenants living in housing units operated by the Madison County Housing Authority who are eligible under the Job Training Partnership Act," the director said.

TWELVE JTPA eligible men and women initially were enrolled in a Job Seeking/Awareness Skills Class at VLTC. Their ages range from 18 to 28 years old.

Eleven of the 12 were selected to continue with on-the-job training.

Eight were subsequently hired by the housing authority for its modernization program. The other three presently are laid off, Blasingame said.

"The housing authority looked at the program and the attendance and took the students on. I think they are pretty happy with it and they still kept eight after the initial training."

"Those eight now are being paid by the housing authority and not through the grant," she said.

UPON COMPLETION of the class at VLTC, students in need of additional basic skills or secondary credentials to make themselves more employable were enrolled in courses.

Several earned a General Educational Development high school equivalency certificate and all took introductory courses in dry-wall work, plumbing and electrical wiring.

Among the student-workers is Faye Foster, who was getting a kitchen stove ready for use last week in an apartment where new drywall sheets had been installed. Vetric Banks was painting window trim in the living room.

"I'M ENJOYING IT," Foster said as she continued to work. Earlier, she'd been sanding and installing ceilings and drywall. "I don't like to do the electrical wiring part," she noted.

David Brown, 20, has no such apprehension about electricity. He's worked out problems using detailed wiring diagrams. At one point, he figured the best and safest way to jack-up a wall which was in need of bracing.

Brown was sawing lengths of baseboards, and he also has learned how to put in floors, tape drywall, install wiring and "do everything else," he said.

"EVERY DAY I'm doing different things and I just want to keep on working. The quicker we work and the better we are, the longer we can keep our jobs," he said, continuing to measure and saw while talking.

"He's one of the best workers I have," Lamar Parker, a JTPA on-the-job training instructor employed by the housing authority, commented.

"David works constantly and will find something to do if you don't give him a job right away," the instructor added.

TERRON WARE was using a circular saw and a hammer to tear out stairs leading to the second floor of an apartment at 126 Garesche Homes, which was gutted by fire April 13.

A pregnant mother, Jeanette Buggs, 21, and her 11-month-old son, Johnnie, died in the early morning blaze. Electricity in the apartment had been turned off April 11 and the family had been using candles, one of the workmen said.

In the same apartment, Keith Long was measuring the upstairs bathroom for drywall and Alan Milton, a Madison County Housing Authority employee and an instructor, was supervising the work.

THREE OF THE 10 apartments being renovated had been damaged by fire and required extensive renovation.

Nathaniel Frison, MCHA operational manager, is in charge of the overall on-the-job training program.

One of the student-employees will be living in a refurbished unit and a great increase in pride in their dwellings has been noted among all the participants, Blasingame said.

FURTHER TRAINING is envisioned under the new grant proposal, which focuses on the formation of an apprenticeship program as a cooperative venture of VLTC and the JTPA Service Delivery Area 22, the project director said.

Several of the student-workers are aiming their sights even higher.

"They are talking about forming a corporation when the training is finished and contracting their services out as a team to the housing authority," Blasingame said.

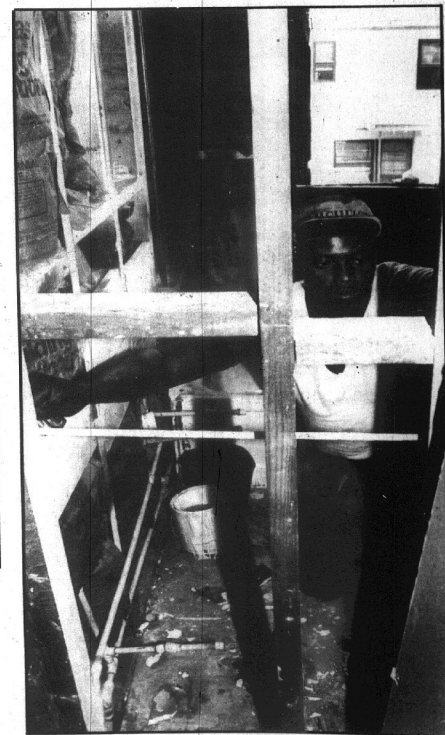

David Brown would say that's not an impossible dream.

Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society plans home tour Sept. 29

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Interest in restoration of older homes in the downtown residential district is an ongoing project for many people. Some will open their homes to the public for the first autumn house tour on Sunday, Sept. 29.

Although this is the first fall tour sponsored by the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society, the organization has been hosting house tours and craft fairs each year since 1974.

The trend to retain the atmosphere of a bygone era by revitalizing older structures for modern living styles is evident in the homes listed on the 1985 tour.

Jeanine Nomm and Margaret Hopkins are coordinating the project and have announced seven residences and one church will be on the schedule this year.

The fair will be staged in the fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, where craft enthusiasts will exhibit their wares and a collection of antique bicycles will be displayed. Tentative plans include a display of small antique cars, the chairman said.

Organized in 1973, the DNRS set its goals to renovate and redecorate older homes in the downtown area. Its first tour followed a theme of "Take a Walk Through Another Era" to exemplify the possibilities and advantages of living in a large older home.

The first meetings were designed for the members to discuss various ways to revitalize homes on a minimal budget while retaining their older-era flavor.

Through the years, numerous home owners have worked on the interior as well as the exterior of their dwellings and many are showplaces today.

Among the priorities of home owners were keeping the old woodwork, doors and original windows when possible by stripping old paint and varnish and restoring the wood to its natural beauty.

Many homes featured stained-glass windows, chandeliers, winding staircases, large entry halls and original kitchen cabinets.

The most extensive work was related to installing new electrical lines, plumbing and heating-cooling equipment, as well as removing old wall coverings or repairing the plaster walls.

The annual house tour is still a walk into the past although the homes are redone for comfortable modern living, the chairman added.

Each year a church is included on the tour schedule and this year area residents are invited to visit the First Presbyterian Church, 22nd and Delmar.

The original idea for this church started in February 1906 at a series of weekly meetings attended by 25 people. They met in the Kinder Hook Church at 20th and Benton streets.

Weekly meetings were conducted by the Rev. J. L. Koll of Madison, and Dr. Milton Page held weekly afternoon services. In April 1906, the Alton Presbytery received a petition signed by 112 people, requesting that they be organized as a Presbyterian Church.

The request was granted and a Presbytery committee headed by the Rev. Walter Bradley, the stated clerk of the Alton Presbytery, met with the petitioners on Easter Sunday, April 15, 1906. On that day, the church was duly organized.

On Dec. 30 of the same year, Dr. Page was formally called as pastor of the church and continued to serve until November 1908.

During the growing years of the church other pastors served the congregation, including Dr. Wallace Waits, Dr. Simon McDonald, the Rev. E. W. McCluskey, the Rev. Clinton D. Bowman, the Rev. John H. Sanders, Dr. A. Ralph Lynn and the Rev. Dr. David B. Maxton.

Music finale set Tuesday

The Granite City Park District "Music Under the Stars" summer choruses will present their last concert of the season on Tuesday, July 30, at 8 p.m. at the Wilson Park Pool Pavilion.

Included on the programs are: "The Summer Knows," "Memory," songs from the movie "Footloose," "Cherish," medley from "Flower Drum Song," "Almost Like Being in Love," "On Broadway," "Puddin' Madelin' Home," "So Long, Farewell," "Next to Lovin' I Like Fightin' Best," medley from "My Fair Lady," and "Ragtime Sing-along."

The concert will be held regardless of the weather. The admission is free and there is ample seating.

Children's clinic days scheduled

The Children's Clinic will be held Wednesday, July 31, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in Pascal Hall at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

To accommodate those in need of school physical examinations, additional clinic days will be held on Wednesdays, Aug. 7, 14, 21 and 28.

The only children to be seen will be those who have been referred by a school nurse, have a medical card, or can show proof of low yearly income (under $10,000).

Presently the pastor is the Rev. Richard Hunt.

Religious music, an integral part of most church services, was important to the congregation and Mrs. Virginia Moore served as director of choirs until June 1967. Mrs. Isabel Schmidt, a lifelong member of the church, accepted the position of choir director in June 1967, serving until September 1968, when Keith Curtis was hired as Sanctuary and Chancel Choir director. Mrs. Schmidt continued to lead the children's choirs.

The church's stone basement was dedicated on May 26, 1907. In 1915, the sanctuary proper was begun and it was completed the following year.

During Dr. Bowman's pastorate, extensive improvements and decorations were completed on the interior of the building, including installation of pews. The outside trim was painted.

The scope of work at the church was enlarged and the demands on it increased to such an extent that, each year, a larger budget was adopted. In 1924 the budget had expenditures of $10,000; the 1955 budget was set at $53,538.

Six years later, under the pastoral leadership of Rev. Sanders, an educational wing was completed and dedicated.

Rev. A. Ralph Lynn was called to the pastorate in 1936. Innovations during the next two decades included complete redecoration of the church, installation of a new organ, provision of a divided chancel, reworking of the dining room and parlors, and installation in 1954 of a 25-ton air conditioning system.

There are 18 active or ruling elders and a larger group of inactive elders on call. There are also a board of 18 trustees, an organized group of 23 ushers, a board of 18 deacons and a group of 18 deaconesses.

While Dr. Maxton served here, improvements included the purchase of the building adjoining the church, to serve as an office area and to provide meeting rooms for young people.

Carillon chimes were installed, an antiphonal organ was acquired, and a parking lot was created in the back of the church, facing Edison Avenue.

Cheese Peaches

Summer dishes that are

Peachy-keen

Back when the only gourmet ice cream store in town was known for its 31 flavors, an ice cream laced with crunchy pralines introduced a generation of Yankees to the French-Louisiana specialty.

Peach-Praline Pie caters to this audience. The fresh peaches are layered with homemade pralines and a cream cheese/sour cream mixture. The combination of flaky crust, luscious fruit, rich cream and crunchy sweet pralines is enough to bring any praline lover out of the closet. For anyone who never hungered after pralines, the sweet and juicy fresh peaches in this exceptional pie is enough for a winning pie.

Early fresh peaches of the season deserve tender loving care. Gingery Cheese-Filled Peaches are an apt use for this fragile commodity, showcasing fresh peach halves stuffed with a cream cheese, sour cream, almond and date filling spiced with chopped crystallized ginger.

The light salad is a good lunch or brunch entree, particularly created for lighter summer appetites. The salad also considers the cook, because the filling can be made ahead and refrigerated. The peach halves will not discolor because they will stay bright up to three hours without lemon juice.

California is the number one peach-producing state in the nation, harvesting more than 120 different varieties between May and October. Look for peak supplies of juicy fresh California peaches from now through August.

The first important peach variety from California is the Springcrest, a medium-sized, semi-freestone with good flavor and color for an early variety. Different varieties vary in size, color, flavor and most importantly, harvest date.

Unfortunately, it is impossible to eat the same peach variety all summer long. However, peaches can be selected and ripened for enjoying whatever their variety at their peak.

First, look for a creamy undercolor and avoid peaches with green at the stem end. Blush is pretty but indicates variety, not ripeness. Peaches are picked mature, through firm, to survive packing and shipping.

They will ripen off the tree if placed in a fruit ripening bowl or loosely closed paper bag at room temperature. Check often for fragrance and skin that yields to slight palm pressure. Refrigerate ripe fresh peaches to slow down the ripening process.

For the most flavor eat them at room temperature the way pickers eat them on their breaks in the orchard, letting the warm juice drip down their sleeve.

Gingery

Cheese-Filled Peaches

6 large peaches (3 lbs.)
2 pugs (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened

1/2 cup sour cream

1/4 cup almonds or other nuts, chopped

1/4 cup dates, chopped

2 tsp. crystallized ginger, chopped

Scrub, halve and pit peaches; chill.

Meanwhile, beat cream cheese, sour cream, almonds, dates and ginger until smooth.

Spoon cheese mixture into each peach half. Garnish with slivered almonds and sliced dates, if desired.

Makes 6 servings.

Note: Cream cheese mixture may be made the day before and refrigerated until needed.

When going anywhere, prevent soggy sandwiches by wrapping sliced tomatoes and lettuce leaves separately in foil or waxed paper. Then, assemble at mealtime.

Hitting the Trail

Assemble as much as possible before leaving home.
Measure and repackage all necessary dry ingredients for a particular dish into one container, then slip the recipes inside the bags or plastic containers before closing. Don't use wire twisties, as they might cause unwanted holes. Instead, try rubberbands.

Purchase nested pots and pans, non-stick if possible.
One package of heavy-duty aluminum foil will fill in for lids, strainers, serving trays, and other cooking needs that might be left at home.

Rain, absence of lights deal a double delay

Junior Legion Playoffs

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
 Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — With one great swoop Thursday, Mother Nature managed to twice postpone the Junior American Legion baseball game between Kelly Hogan and the Alton Juniors of Post 126.

On Thursday, when the game was originally scheduled, Mother Nature deluged Varsity Field with two inches of rain just an hour and a half before the first pitch of the playoff game was to be thrown.

Then on Friday under a cloudless summer night and optimum conditions for baseball, Mother Nature was a lot less conspicuous in her postponement than she was the night before. In fact, had the game begun an hour earlier it might have been completed and Mother Nature's doings at Granite City High School's Varsity Field may still be a secret.

But, such is luck, so said Hogan assistant coach Carl Benson.

Apparently, during Thursday's storm Mother Nature not only soaked the field, but she also managed to blow two of the three fuses in the electrical boxes which operate the lights that illuminate Varsity Field.

It wasn't until the fifth inning with the score tied at one — about 8:15 p.m. — when baseball fans discovered Mother Nature's secret.

On went the switches to light the field, and as slow as the lights are to shine, they never did.

That's when the wait began.

Simultaneously, telephone calls went to Ron Landman, Community School Unit District Nine's director of buildings and grounds, and Illinois Power.

"All I can do is speculate," said Delbert Madison, the IP employee who responded to the call. "It's a pretty good bet that last night's storm blew the fuses. We had other calls after the storm. Madison said holding the two spent 600 volt, 400 amp, 10-inch long fuses.

While game officials and electricians searched both the high school buildings and the electric utility companies for two replacement fuses so the game could continue, Hogan team members kept themselves and a handful of die-hard fans

Young, 57, a retired steelworker from American Steel, correctly guessed that the Los Angeles Dodgers would defeat the St. Louis Cardinals July 18. For his efforts Young, who hasn't been to a game yet this year, will take his wife, Doris, to the Aug. 3 contest game between the Cardinals and the Philadelphia Phillies. This week's game is Thursday's game against the Chicago Cubs. (Staff photo by Alan L. Gerstenecker)

'Weighty Workout' Athletes 'weighting' for football season

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY: There was a time when a high school's head football coach would double or even triple up on his duties; after the grid season transforms into a basketball or wrestling coach in the winter and a baseball coach in the spring.

But times are changing. Nowadays, says Warrior football coach Ron Yates, being a football coach is a 12-month a year task, which leaves little time for the other sports. "It's necessary to work at your sport all year long," Yates says.

Part of that year-long training, Yates is convinced should include weight-training. It's for that reason that Yates, who begins his second season as the Warrior mentor this fall, has been conducting a summer weight-training program for his athletes.

On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons this summer from 3 to 5 p.m., Yates opens GCHS' weight-training room in the gymnasium annex building for about 30 dedicated, lifting-minded athletes. "The faces aren't always the same, but we always get about the same number each time; 30 all total including freshmen," Yates said.

This summer's session is not the first such seasonal weight-training program. Immediately following the Warriors' season last fall, Yates began a 12-week winter weight-training program. Then in April, another session, the spring session, began until waning into the summer program, the third since football season the Warriors' season ended in November.

"It's important to keep working, keep at it," Yates said. "I've seen a lot of improvement in some of the kids. The regulars are really showing improvement; (muscle) definition and strength."

"Weight-training is such a crucial part of sports anymore. Where working with weights used to be taboo, now it's more the rule than the exception. Virtually every sport as a program involving some sort of weight-training," Yates said.

The current sessions will conclude on Aug. 12, the day before the Warriors' grid squad begins the dreaded "two-a-day" practice sessions.

"The winter program was the most structured," Yates explained. "We helped the kids with the various (weight machine) stations and throughout the session kept records. By spring we awarded trophies to the kids who showed the most improvement," Yates said.

Dave Tatum, a senior and Lance Jakich, a junior, won those "best lifter" awards.

The winter session ended the first week in March and by April 1, Yates had his athletes well into their spring session workout.

"The spring session was and the summer session is a lot less structured than the winter session was," Yates said. "It's important to get the kids here and get them to work out, but spring being a change for the kids to get outside after a long winter and summer, well just being summer with vacations and all, it's pretty tough to demand a rigid schedule."

"Also, with two-a-days coming up, we don't want to burn them out with a overly-structured program," Yates said. "Too much of anything and they'll lose their interest."

Although Yates' spring and summer sessions feature a less structured workout, he says that doesn't mean he's giving less from April through August.

"I'm here every session," Yates said. "Here to open up and lock up. I guess I could ask one of my assistants to split up the time, but I think it's good that the kids know that I'm interested enough to be here all the time. Not that my assistants wouldn't do well, but I think it's important that the kids know that the head football coach is here."

"I'm committed. I guess I sort of hope it will rub off on them too," Yates said.

Although Yates is not demanding a certain weight-training routine, he does request that his athletes workout include exercises on the bench press, the military press, the arm curl and the french arm curl to improve their upper body. For the lower body, Yates requires half leg squats, leg extensions, leg curls and sprinting.

"Good upper body strength is pretty important, but having strong, mobile legs is also very important. If they do all eight exercises they'll be ready when practices begin, but more than anything they know they've done all the preparation they can for the coming season."

PUMPING IRON. Granite City High School football coach Ron Yates "spots" senior football player Tracy McElroy as he lifts 175 pounds on the inclined bench press during a workout Thursday at GCHS. Yates is conducting a summer workout twice-a-week for his football players. The summer workout is the third such seasonal workout since the Warriors ended their season last November.

Winter bowl league signups

Local bowling enthusiasts have scheduled two registration dates for persons and teams wishing to participate a winter league.

Bonnie Hunter, spokesperson and a member of the St. John's Go-Getters, says there are currently vacancies in that ladies league and another popular league, that of the Dorothy Brokaw Memorial League.

Registration for the St. John's Go-Getters will be at 9 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 19 at Bowland Lanes, located at 5050 Nameoki Road, out by Granite City Center. League play will begin a week later, Aug. 26.

Registration for women seeking to play in the Brokaw Memorial League will be held later that night, Monday, Aug. 19, at 8 p.m. Registration for the Brokaw League will also be held at Bowland. And, like the St. John's Go-Getters' League, which is sponsored by St. John's United Church of Christ, Brokaw League play will begin on Aug. 26.

Although members of St. John's are organizing the league, Hunter said league play is not restricted to members of that church. "We're trying to establish an inter-church league," Hunter said. "We're welcoming all churches to play."

A third league, the Early Ladies League, which plays on Tuesday evenings during the 35-week winter league, has scheduled a meeting at Bowland on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 7 p.m. That league, Hunter said, is full.

Sandlot Superstars Despite obstacles, Westside playing America's pasttime

By JOE THOMPSON
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — They had bats. They had gloves. They also had a ball.

Another round of our national pastime was played out Friday afternoon on diamond No. 7 in Wilson Park. Baseball may have looked prettier, but after what seemed like zillions of arguments of one baseball's universal appeals again prevailed.

The umpiring, like anywhere else, was on the shaky side.

"It's not too good," said 14-year-old Mike Mathon, the new kid in town.

Mathon also crossed the plate with the winning run as, West Granite, a team you won't see listed in any standings, nosed out a group of kids who didn't even know what to call their team, but are generally known as "Kirkpatrick Homes," since that's where a few live. The score was 11-10.

The kids — from both teams — range in age from 10 to 15. You won't see their records in the newspaper anywhere. The only league they play their games is the league of hard knocks.

It was understandable why the men in blue took such criticism. They were really kids, some in t-shirts and jeans. Players umpired the game themselves. When disputes reached a standoff, Connie Wofford was there to settle the issue.

As the 38-year-old manager of West Granite, and the mother of 13-year-old Chuck, who plays left field for the team, Connie is always there to settle the issue.

This is something, especially considering Connie admittedly doesn't know a thing about baseball — including how to keep score. But she cheers with the zeal of a Cardinal fan at a Cubs game, and rules with the authority of a Peter Ueberroth.

With Connie there, the kids got the job done. Then, however, they've got the job done five times before.

West Granite's victory was their fourth in six games against Kirkpatrick Homes, which had won the previous two games by scores of 13-7 and 8-7.

West Granite won the first three games by scores of 15-9, 15-13 and 17-15. You can see the teams are evenly matched. They go at each other with the fury of Vince Coleman sliding head first into third base.

During the midst of a West Granite uprising in the sixth inning, West Granite captain, 15-year-old Tim Hillis, explained, "We have our differences. Either way it goes, we like to get together and see who has the better team."

Neither team has a sponsor. West

Granite does have uniforms — red shirts and caps they purchased with their own money — and white pants they bought with some of the $250 they raised by washing cars. The Kirkpatrick kids' uniforms are the clothes they wear from home.

The kids also have helmets to wear when they bat and beware the wrath of Connie Wofford to any player who steps to the plate without one — except for one kid who complained that he couldn't wear one because it made his ears ring. He was excused.

Also beware to any West Granite kid who doesn't share his equipment. Kirkpatrick Homes pitcher Jim Harris politely asked if he could use one of West Granite's bats. Connie made it a point to see that he got the bat he wanted. "Thank you," said Harris politely.

While the kids and Connie seem to work out whatever problems crop up on the diamond, they would just as soon not have to contend with obstacles. Abner Doubleday never had to face off the dirt paths.

"People complaining about the kids, doing this, doing that. If they would give these kids a chance. I mean, they ain't bad kids," said Connie.

Connie said neighbors complain about the kids practicing on a field in the 2200 block of Bryan Ave., where the Woffords live. So they end up playing on a field behind Frather — not an ideal place to catch a ground ball. "It's all lumpy and everything," said Connie.

But they play on it anyway, and Connie is very much aware of the alternative.

"I know three or four of these kids on the team who, if it wasn't for this, they'd be out walking the streets... I do know that for a fact," she said.

The may not be any Joaquin Andujars or Jack Clarks on the team, but that doesn't matter either.

"I've seen kids come here didn't even know how to catch, or bat a ball. This has helped them a lot. They're learning. That's right," said Connie.

Some have a lot to learn, too. "Some can't run very good," said Connie. "Some of them can bat. Some of them can't. But you've got to give all kids a chance, not just some kids. All kids."

Just about all the kids did get a chance, either to bat or at least umpire. With Harris zipping in his fastball, Kirkpatrick Homes held West Granite at bay for the first few innings. When Harris took himself off the mound, West Granite got rolling. Trailing 8-4 in the fourth inning, they put together a big rally.

The catcher, 15-year-old Buddy

Graham, smacked a two run homer, despite a painful right hand that had caught a foul tip. Mathon is a new kid in town, having moved to Granite City from Arkansas about a month ago. He also blasted a two-run homer giving West Granite its first lead.

There were no losers. When it was over after seven innings, Hillis offered a challenge — that fans come out and watch them play sometime. He pointed out that West Granite isn't thought of highly by some citizens. But then they've never seen his team play ball.

"West Granite kids do care," Hillis said. They care the welfare of the city, he said. It's obvious they also care about baseball.

The major league baseball players have set an Aug. 6 strike date. The West Granite kids will likely be playing long after that. Probably against Kirkpatrick Homes, although they will be happy to take on any other comers.

Other West Granite team members include Mark and Carl Teserau, Chris McNeish, Scott Poyner, Rich Dunbar, Kenny Graham, Mike Dunbar, Phillip Baldwin, Dan Partney, seven-year-old batboy Ronnie Stillwell.

Besides Harris, Kirkpatrick Homes team includes Richard Frazier, Mike Dawson, John Hildebrand, team captain David Vinto and brother Jeff, Wes Burkett, Nick Esparza, "7" or "8-year-old" batboy Shain and Gene Kuehnel, Danny Askins, "second" batboy Nino Esparza and Curtis Holmes.

Zedolek named DU chairman

GRANITE CITY — Tony J. Zedolek, a bricklayer's apprentice and avid outdoorsman, has been appointed the Quad-City area chairman of Ducks Unlimited, the world's largest waterfowl conservation organization.

In his volunteer position, Zedolek will act as a liaison with local conservation groups and governmental organizations and will help develop fund-raising events within the Granite City area.

"Zedolek's willingness to volunteer his talents is part of the real strength of Ducks Unlimited," says Dale E. Whitesell, executive vice president of DU.

"Area chairmen serve as important links in the organization, without them, Ducks Unlimited could not be successful." For nearly 50 years, Ducks Unlimited has been helping to conserve wetlands in North America. The greatest majority of its funds come from membership dinners throughout the country.

Ducks Unlimited has wetland conservation projects in Canada, Mexico and the United States. These projects make certain there is water available for waterfowl when they need it most.

"With an annual loss of some 700,000 acres of wetlands in North America, Ducks Unlimited's job becomes more critical each year," adds Whitesell.

Persons interested in joining the local chapter of DU should contact Zedolek at 877-2458.

Eagle Creek Triathlon Aug. 3

SHELBYVILLE — The Department of Conservation is seeking athletes to participate in the first Eagle Creek Triathlon, scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 3 at Eagle Creek State Park on the shores of Lake Shelbyville. Plans are to make the triathlon an annual event.

According to Dick Garfat, with DOC special events, the race will coincide with dedication ceremonies for the newly constructed swimming beach at Eagle Creek.

Participants will leave the beach at 8 a.m. for a three-quarter mile swim, followed by 11 miles of biking. The triathlon concludes with a four-mile foot race. Trophies, ribbons and other prizes will be awarded to top athletes competing in the event, Garfat said.

Following the race, DOC will sponsor games and contests for the less athletically inclined at the Eagle Creek beach area. Food and beverages will be available and a live band will provide music. Picnicking facilities are available.

Persons wanting more information may contact Garfat at the Department of Conservation, (217) 785-5559.

Bigger motors increase power proportionally

When you put a bigger outboard on your fishing boat, you can expect speed increase of 3.9 percent for every 10 percent you go up in power, according to the engineering staff at Mercury Outboards.

This formula, the engineers say, is applicable for boats with a typical vee-bottom planing hull. Here's how it works. If your 16-foot boat runs at 30.4 miles per hour with a 50-horsepower motor and you want to consider putting a 50-horsepower on the boat, the Mercury formula indicates that your speed with the new motor will be about 39.8 miles per hour.

The switch from a 50-horsepower to a 50-horsepower motor represents a power increase of 80 percent, resulting in a theoretical speed increase of 31.2 percent. Multiplying the boat's original speed of 30.4 miles per hour by 31.2 percent yields a speed increase of 9.48 miles per hour. Add the increase to the 30.4 miles per hour and you arrive at an estimated speed of 39.8 miles per hour.

You can make calculations easier by rounding 3.9 percent off to an even four percent.

But tell them it was the same night they played ghostball and they'll recall the moment in an instant.

Alton was the first team to make the magic happen Friday night. In the third inning, Todd Taul slapped a two-out double to deep left center field. Then Dan Stephan swatted a single to easily score Taul and Alton was threatening to get even more.

But then, as LeVavitt pitched to Rob Hasse, Bamber threw Stephan out trying to steal second. For Bamber it was the third person he threw out trying to steal second base in the abbreviated contest.

The local squad scored its run in the fourth as Jeff Zukas reached on an infield hit, advanced to second when Mark Elliot, attempting to throw Zukas out at second, threw in left center field which also allowed the runners to advance.

Zukas scored to tie the game and Hendrickson moved to second when Alton hurler Tim Hanolin threw a pitch past Brian Brakeville.

Tim Hogan kayed to end the inning just before the game delay.

The winner of Saturday's game advanced to the league playoffs among divisional champions later that afternoon at Hoppe Field. A report of the continued game and the local squad's role in the tournament playoffs will appear in Wednesday's Journal.
